The Monster of Florence The Monster of Florence is a 2002 horror film directed by John Dahl and starring Courtney Love, Kyle MacLachlan, John Cusack, Jennifer Tilly and Kiernan Shipka. The film was released on DVD on December 19, 2002 by MGM Home Entertainment. Plot The story begins with a reporter working on a story about a serial killer in the 1980s. She is driving in the countryside, when the car she is in is accidentally struck by a bus. The woman is rescued by a strange man who takes her to a nearby farmhouse where she is tied up and seemingly drugged. While she is sleeping, the woman is woken by a phone ringing. She answers, and her first words are a "Yeah, I'm fine" to whoever is on the other end. Once she is
